Subject: Microsoft Settlement

At this time in the United States it would seem that going back to business as usual would be the obvious choice. I agree. I think that this settlement although at times unfair to microsoft is better than prolonged litigation. As a consumer I have to say that I was happy to get a free web-browser from microsoft so have no sympathy for netscape s old practices. This settlement should stand and as American corporations the competitors of Microsoft who are really the interested parties should strive to win in the marketplace not the courtroom.
